

Carol Massay

Head of Construction at The Access Group

Carol has worked in the construction industry for over 30 years, and the last 20 in construction technology. She has first-hand experience working within some of the UK's largest contractors, from house building to civil engineering, and her mission is to continue to promote the construction sector as a great place to expand your career and provide world-class technology to attract skills from other walks of life to the sector.

She was recognised as Construction Businesswoman of the year by Great British Woman Awards in 2021. She is an ambassador for Women in Construction, represents and supports several Networking Groups, including Diversified Development Global, regularly speaks on LinkedIn and Club House, and was shortlisted last year for an award recognising the work she does to promote diversity and inclusion.
